GOV. BLAGOJEVICH ANNOUNCES THE WINNERS OF THE ANNUAL GOVERNOR'S HOME TOWN AWARDS

SPRINGFIELD – The hard work and dedication of thousands of volunteers across Illinois whose efforts have greatly improved the communities in which they live were acknowledged today at the 23rd annual Governor's Home Town awards in Springfield. Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity Director Jack Lavin, who represented the Governor, was joined by a host of other state and local leaders to recognize their outstanding achievements and to present one winner with the celebrated Governor's Cup award.

"I want to thank the countless numbers of people from Alton to Zion who give of their time, talents and resources to improve the quality of life in their communities. I especially want to congratulate the winners of the Home Town awards whose efforts went far beyond expectations. As we continue to do everything we can to ensure state government better serves the people of our state, the grassroots work they do will continue to be our strongest asset," Governor Blagojevich said.

Thirty-seven projects were honored this year. Volunteer judges reviewed and ranked applications based on local need, volunteer participation, project continuity and results. After an initial review that narrowed the applications to a maximum of ten in each population category, the judges visited those communities and then selected one project from each category to compete for the coveted Governor's Cup - a traveling silver trophy presented to the community whose efforts were deemed most representative of the spirit of Illinois volunteerism.

The Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity (DCEO) administers the Governor's Home Town Awards Program.

"By taking leadership roles in their communities, and getting involved in the projects that matter most to their families, neighbors and friends, these volunteers are building stronger, more vibrant communities that are in better position to attract investment, support growth, create new jobs and encourage innovation. This awards ceremony is a chance for us to recognize the extraordinary work they've done, and to simply say thanks," DCEO Director Jack Lavin said.

The 2004 Governor's Cup winner is Kankakee County's Garden of Prayer Youth Center. The Garden of Prayer Youth Center provides support to youth and their families in the area via four programs - Life on the Farm, My Second Home, Teen REACH and Family Focus. Poverty often serves as an impetus for crimes committed by juveniles, school dropout and abuse. The Garden of Prayer Youth Center, a faith-based volunteer organization, seeks to address the needs of children and families in crisis by providing counseling programs, emergency housing for homeless youth, structured educational and recreational programs. With each passing day, the Center continues to make great strides in improving lives and giving hope to many youth and families in the area.

Each of the award winning communities receive a road sign and plaque recognizing its efforts, and the Governor's Cup winner receives a unique road sign that proclaims its status as the overall winner.

A complete list of all of the winners follows. Within each population category, winners can come from five possible project categories: general, youth involvement, veteran involvement, senior citizen involvement and economic development.

2004 Governor's Home Town Award Winners

Category I (Communities with populations up to 2,600)

General - Panama - The community erected a monument to the coalminers who founded the village and suffered great losses in their perilous line of work.

General – Manito – More than 100 community members came together to build a new, state-of-the-art aquatic center to replace the old and dilapidated one that had served as a social center for the town.

*Youth Involvement – Jerome - Volunteers from the Jerome Police Department, local businesses, community leaders and parents joined forces to collect candy, costumes, pumpkin pails and door prizes for the students of Pleasant Hill Elementary School.

Category II (Communities with populations between 2,601 – 6,300)

General - Hawthorn Woods - The Hawthorn Woods Women's Club - The Women's Club buys gift certificates and collects items to offer as Christmas gifts to local shelters that aid victims of domestic abuse and the homeless throughout the year.
